Our conversations on impact

Companies are increasingly expected to measure, improve and report on their impacts

Theresa May tells G20 she plans to tackle bad corporate behaviour

The prime minister tells summit she will make proposals against corporate tax avoidance and excessive pay by Christmas

"It is not anti-business to suggest that big business needs to change"

A question for you

In your view, what level of understanding do external stakeholders have of your organisation's impacts?

The Impact Knowledge Gap

Just one in five practitioners surveyed told us that external stakeholders have a "good understanding" of their own company's impacts.

How impact data can add value to your business

Build resilience and reduce risk

Establish collaborations to scale up impact

What do we mean by impact?

The short and long-term changes that companies generate for individuals, communities, and wider society.

POSITIVE IMPACT: An impact that creates value for the business and/or society

NEGATIVE IMPACT:

An impact that creates harm for the business and/or society

Steps for measuring and maximising impacts

Where do companies create impacts?

Example impacts in the value chain

Using the results

Principles of effective impact measurement

Set clear impact objectives

Fix value chain boundaries

Gather trusted data

Contextualize the analysis

Take action to create change
