If you would like to work with the world's biggest brands and most progressive organisations, alongside a team of experienced, passionate and fun sustainability experts and business consultants, then this may be the role for you.

We are currently looking for a Socio-Economic Impact Specialist for our London office, but can promise that you will work across the service portfolio, with colleagues from all of our offices and global clients to enhance your exposure whilst maintaining your own subject matter expertise. This is initially a maternity cover – a 12 month's contract.

This role will be a perfect fit if:

- You have a degree / masters in economics or related discipline and at least 3 years' experience in conducting socio-economic impact analysis of an individual company or major development
- You are working in consulting using strong quantitative and analytical skills, and are skilled at writing reports
- You are a team player and can manage project teams on time and on budget, but you are just as comfortable producing high quality client work with minimal supervision
- You want to help big brands understand their wider impact in society
- You have a clear vision of how to help companies measure and report on their social, economic and environmental performance
- You have experience and skills in supporting our senior team in developing new business

You will have the opportunity to work alongside our existing team members on a variety of projects internationally, carrying out research and analysis, working directly with clients and contributing to the development of new business opportunities.

The successful candidate will have a positive, entrepreneurial approach with enthusiasm for team working and a passion for learning. You must be client focused and able to develop new business.

To apply please send your CV and a covering letter outlining:

- Your main areas of experience and expertise with specific focus on socio-economic impact studies as well as corporate responsibility and sustainability
- Your current salary and salary expectation
- How you meet the person specification above
- Why you are the best candidate for the job
- Confirm that you are eligible to work in the UK. Location: London.
